Rationing rules now require that every car owner write his license number and state on all gasoline coupons in his possession as soon as they are issued him by the rationing board.

District OPA Director W. E. Holcomb said today initial success of the Grocer-consumer Anti-Inflation Campaign was assured by immediate response of food retailers and consumer organizations, particularly women's organizations. Future success, he pointed out, will depend largely on cooperation by housewives who buy groceries.

Strengthened control of food prices now, Major Holcomb said, is the foundation on which postwar control of inflationary prices will be built. He cited prices of certain staple items during and following World War I to show that runaway food prices came after military victory and when vigilance against inflation had relaxed.

For example, he said, on Armistice day potatoes were selling at 3.3 cents per pound. By the middle of 1920 the price had risen to 10.3 cents per pound—only to plunge to 2.1 cents per pound three months later. Other examples cited were: sugar, 9.8 cents per pound in November, 1918, rose to 26.7 cents per pound in the middle of 1920 only to drop to 6.2 cents per pound a few months later; lard which was held to 34.2 cents per pound during the war rose to 42 cents then plunged to 15.4 cents per pound; butter went from 68.3 cents per pound to 78 cents then down to 40.2 cents when economic collapse followed the inflation peak; round steak went from 38.5 cents up to 45 cents then down to 30.2 cents per pound; rice jumped from 14 cents up to 18.7 cents then dropped to 8.7 cents per pound; and eggs which had reached a price of 74.1 cents per dozen on Armistice Day rose to 92.4 cents then plunged to 31.7 cents per dozen in the crash late in 1920.

Every housewife was caught in the maelstrom of inflation-deflation of food prices and wartime savings were wiped out. Grocers who might have gained temporarily during inflation saw their entire business wiped out in deflation. Farmers were bankrupt.

Only through adequate price control can we avoid such experiences again, Major Holcomb said.

A reduction for December of 20 cents per bushel in the present ceiling price of fresh snap beans will have no immediate effect on actual retail prices, the Office of Price Administration said today, pointing out that beans generally are now selling below their established ceilings.

In November, previous ceilings were raised under the "catastrophe clause" of the Stabilization Extension Act, to compensate growers for hurricane damage to the Florida crop.

The December ceilings, 20 cents per bushel less than those for November, were established because more complete reports indicated that the hurricane damage would not affect December production to as great an extent as was first indicated.

The Office of Price Administration has established a retail ceiling price of 75 cents for surplus M-1 plywood assault boats which the U. S. Maritime Commission proposes to sell for civilian use.

A ceiling of $52.50 each was established for sales to dealers for resale.

OPA explained the boats have not been used before but are no longer needed for the war effort. Each weighs about 165 pounds and is about 13 feet, 6 inches long and about 4 feet, 4 inches wide.

Two amendments designed to simplify the bulk of inventory problems that wartime rationing has brought to gasoline dealers have been announced by the Office of Price Administration.

The first amends existing procedures for replenishment of gasoline losses by refueling or normal handling, or accidental losses of coupons, to allow dealers a second chance to take advantage of this procedure if they did not know of the rules in time to apply within the period allowed.

The second provides a method by which dealers who have received counterfeit or other invalid coupons, in spite of taking all reasonable precautions to prevent it, may be "waived out" within limitations for dealers entered against their inventories as a result of passing on these invalid coupons to their suppliers.

WAR BOND DRIVE FOR COUNTY MOVING AT STEADY PACE

Citizens Urged To Purchase "As Many E-Bonds As Possible"

All Hancock County citizens are urged to purchase "as many E-Bonds as possible" prior to December 7 in order for the county to reach its $113,000 E-Bond quota by "E-Bond Victory Day."

This appeal was sent out this week by W. J. Cox, Jr., chairman of the Sixth War Loan Drive, who reports that heavy E-Bond buying on the part of everyone is necessary if the county is to go over the top by the set day.

Governor Thomas L. Bailey pointed the way to "E-Bond Victory Day" in a special proclamation, challenging every citizen to observe the third anniversary of the infamous attack on Pearl Harbor by helping their county and state reach E-Bond quota on that date. Meanwhile, mayors and other leaders have joined in the plan to so observe the day.

"Unless everyone does his and her part in buying E-Bonds, we stand a chance to fail in this worthwhile plan," the chairman said. "Certainly, no other business or activity is of more importance than reaching this home-front objective, as our chief executive has pointed out. Let's show our enemy, Japan, that we will remember December 7 by telling the world on that day we have reached our E-quota in the Sixth War Loan Drive. Do your duty now, and buy those E-Bonds."

Already counties and communities are reporting over the top on E-Bond quotas. Itawamba county, with J. M. Gibbs, director, and A. T. Cleveland, War Loan Drives Chairman, reports a whirlwind drive on the opening day, when all schools closed, and student, teachers and patrons bought and sold bonds. Preliminary returns showed cash subscriptions of $70,000 against a $60,000 E-Bond quota.

The only business transaction in East Chickasaw county on November 22 were bond sales until both quotas were reached. J. T. McKinley, Director and J. E. McGinnis, Drives Chairman, reported sales of E-Bonds at 163 percent and other bonds at 165 percent of quotas in 15 minutes at a rally at Okoloma. This shows how wholehearted efforts will meet quotas quickly.

Special Thanksgiving Service

There was a special Thanksgiving service in the Baptist church on Thursday with the visiting minister Rev. B. M. Vaughn, bringing the message.

Preceding the service there was a short program dedicating the American and Christian flags which had previously been placed in the church. This program consisted of the singing of America, the pledges given to both flags led by four girl scouts, a reading "Makers of the Flag" by Joyce Middleton and closed with the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Girl Scouts taking part were Geraldine Middleton, Louise Bellande, Joan Koch and Jane Ann Martin.

There was also Thanksgiving services at the Catholic and Episcopal churches but in the absence of the pastor, Rev. E. E. Samples, there were no services at the Methodist church.

It was noticeable that there was very little hilarity or parties most of the families having a quiet dinner at home, some with their sons and daughter home from school; some families having dinner at hotels and restaurants.

ORTTE THEATRE DEC. 7, AT 7:30 "WAR BOND SHOW PREMIER"

Big Screen and Stage Review—Adm. Free—Just Present Your War Bond Bought From Nov. 27th.

Someone has said that movie-goers are the backbone of our nation. Next to church, home and school, the movie theatre is our most stable institution. The average American is one who patronizes neither gammlor or high-priced cabaret, but takes his girl friend, or the wife and kiddies to the movies.

That's why special interest in the Sixth War Loan Drive is attached to the program of the nation's motion picture exhibitors in connection with that drive. And we needn't tell you how important the drive is with the Axis groggy and reeling, and a mighty effort on to deliver the knockout punch in Europe so that all our forces can be directed against the Japs!

Hollywood and the 16,000 movie theatre exhibitors of the nation have been a big factor in the success of previous drives. They have contributed their considerable energies, their flare for showmanship, and substantial sacrifices at the box office to insure the success of these drives, through Free Movie Days, Special Bond Premieres, Bond Sales Tours of stars and other lively devices for stimulating interest and dramatizing the message of the Treasury Department to the people of the nation. They have done this because they realize the importance of the people who go to the movies—the people who are helping our boys give Hitler and Hirohito the beating of their lives.

They know the power of their audiences and they appreciate the obligation they have to the nation on this account. In the last drive, more than 20 per cent of the "E" Bonds issued, were sold through the activities of the motion picture campaign. By the same token it's up to us all to support the motion picture drive.

2. Early solution of demobilization and their effect on unemployment.
3. Reemployment of demobilized soldiers and war workers.

A. & G. THEATRE SUNDAY-MONDAY "RAINBOW ISLAND"

The public still dictates to Hollywood, apparently, for Dorothy Lamour is back in the South Seas in her newest sarong in Paramount's newest musical, "Rainbow Island," which critics hail as the most lush and lovely of any of the sarongstress' tropical escapades.

At the A. & G. Theatre, "Rainbow Island," we are told, is a palmy, balmy chunk of entertainment filled with color, music and beautiful sarongstress. Co-starring with Miss Lamour are Eddie Bracken and Gil Lamb, who, as ship-wrecked merchant seamen in the South Pacific come upon this island paradise with another member of their tormented ship, Barry Sullivan.

Orders are immediately given by the Queen of the island for a native dance fete with plenty of food, music and gaiety as the proper background for beheading the three stranded Americans. Fighting mad Bracken turns on his ugliest scowl and behold! he is the image of the native god, Momo, before whom all fall to the ground in worship.

From that point on, we are told, the charm and excitement of the island are exploded by Momo and his boyguard with the help of beautiful and sympathetic native girls. All goes well except that Bracken gets hungrier and hungrier, since native gods do not require food, and if he is caught eating as an ordinary human, all three of them will return to the chopping block.

Including among other things, one of the longest and funniest jungle races ever filmed a swimming ballet of bride-to-be Lamour and her jungle ladies-in-waiting, a boogie-woogie routine with Gil Lamb and a chorus of sultry charmers, and songs that you'll never forget, "Rainbow Island" promises to be the tastiest bit of musical entertainment to come along this year.

Producer E. D. Leshin and co-directors Frank Tuttle and Ralph Murphy have succeeded in projecting the spirit of the story, intended for musical entertainment and laughs, by offering a bevy of beautiful girls and comedy which is of the rib-tickling variety, it's said.

enterprise, reduction of high wartime taxes and relaxation of rigid government controls.

To Resume Program For Furnishing More Telephones

Furnishing more telephones for rural Mississippi through resumption of a program interrupted by the war in 1942 is one of the principal post-war projects of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

This was learned today from J. C. Hay, Mississippi Manager for the telephone company. Mr. Hay said that resumption of this program long has been a major objective of Southern Bell, together with the task of providing service to the large number of applicants who have been unable to obtain telephones because of the lack of equipment due to war needs.

When war came, Southern Bell was in the midst of a rural telephone development program designed to extend the convenience of the telephone in farm areas. The program, which was in progress when materials which go into telephone manufacture became scarce, had to be stopped in the fall of 1942 after nearly 1,400 new rural telephones had been installed in Mississippi at a cost of approximately $105,000. About 275 miles of new telephone lines were constructed before work ceased.

Before actual work began, a great deal of planning and engineering had been done, looking toward a continually developing farm program which would take telephone service into area after area. "This is the same program, with expansion and new developments, which the telephone company plans to resume as early in the future as conditions will permit," Mr. Hay said.

"We already have men in the field making a survey preparatory to drawing up definite plans in order that we will be ready to resume work just as soon as equipment and manpower have again become available."

"In addition to requiring equipment, the extension of the telephone system into more and more farm areas will engage a large number of our people. To help with this program we are going to rely a great deal upon our more than 200 Mississippi telephone employees now in the armed forces. In the main, these employees on leave are technically skilled people, such as linemen, central office technicians and engineers, whose activities will be a big factor in farm telephone development."

Mr. Hay said that the Bell Telephone Laboratories have made many new developments in the art of telephony during the war and that Southern Bell will draw heavily upon these new creations to further the farm telephone program.

He pointed out that one vital phase of the rural telephone project—that of obtaining the necessary equipment—must await the industrial reconversion period, because the manufacturers of peacetime telephone equipment are still fully engaged in making our war communications equipment. And of course their reconversion to peacetime manufacture will be affected by the nature of the continuing communications needs for the war against Japan.

"We are going to be ready to resume our program at the earliest possible time," said Mr. Hay. "A great period of progressiveness surely lies ahead for agriculture in Mississippi and the coming of the telephone to more and more farm homes will certainly be an important phase of that growth. We are looking forward to the opportunity of being a part of this progress."

SAVE FOR SECURITY

Many schemes have been devised to short-cut an easy way to security but prosperity is still the product of WORK and THRIFT.

Economic security is welded out of the strivings and savings of a people. The resources of this bank represent the accumulated labor and frugality of thousands of men and women who forego their spending to lay by a goodly portion of their earnings to sustain them through the leaner years that periodically return.

In the midst of a world tragedy that pulls at our heart strings and tries men's souls, the Mississippi Gulf Coast enjoys unprecedented prosperity. We are near the crest of a war boom in which jobs are plentiful, wages high, and money easy. Deposits in your bank have broken all past records, and savings accounts have reached an all-time peak.

We all know that, sooner or later, money will become tight again, jobs scarce and that business will slump. Thousands of our customers are consistently saving for that eventuality. Through the fat years they prepare for the leaner ones with forethought and prudence.

Pursuing a constructive policy through the years your bank has always been exceedingly careful with the money it holds as a sacred trust for its depositors. Your bank has weathered every financial storm, it has survived every economic crisis and fulfilled every obligation to customer and community because it has conserved its resources and practiced thrift.

For forty-five years it has encouraged its customers to open savings accounts to the end that they may be better prepared to resist personal reverses, meet community readjustments, or grasp opportunity.

No one can foretell just how many years of war prosperity lie ahead of us. It is our patriotic duty to work without stint to sustain our fighting men in their heroic endeavors. It is also just as patriotic to SAVE FOR SECURITY—to salt down a share of our earnings to provide for the needs of that uncertain future.

Buy VICTORY BONDS and WAR SAVINGS STAMPS. Open a savings account with us, however small, and save consistently. Open a savings account for that lad in uniform; he will be back again, ambitious to build a home and start life all over, and will need a helping hand. If we will meet the urgent challenge to save, when our sons come marching home they will bless us for our patriotism and praise us for our thrift.

Their adventures take place against the familiar background of Blair General Hospital where Dr. Gillespie continues his own private feud with Molly Byrd, the omnipres-

A Prayer

Across the world the sound of shells has ceased . . .
And quiet shrouds the battle-rubbed West . . .
The enemy has laid away his arms, and Death and Pain are done in France.
But I go on . . . for I must fight and kill . . .
And work and sweat . . . and hide and run . . .
For here the enemy is very much alive . . .
His bullets still are made of lead . . .
Their angry whispers still foretell of sudden death
For me and others crouched in slime and mud . . .
The end for us is yet to come . . .
And so we pray to God to give us strength
To fight and win . . . without the waste of Time . . .
And with His Will . . . to see our homes again.

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Pain like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. IT TAKES PLENTY OF WAR BONDS
TO BUILD B-29s

THE WAR in the Pacific is the most costly war America has ever engaged in. It's simple arithmetic. A mountain of special, costly equipment is needed. A B-29 Superfortress used in the bombing of Japan costs $600,000 in War Bonds. And this is just one of the many extra costly implements of war needed to achieve final victory in the Pacific.

That's why the 6th War Loan Drive is so important. That's why you must back it as generously as you have every other war loan drive. Invest in the next raid on Japan.
